A Message From Leadership

Leah Northrop
Public Health Branch Director

It is with great pride that we present the 2024-2025 Sutter County Public Health Branch Annual Report. As we look back on the past year, we are reminded of the important role public health plays in creating strong, thriving communities. Each challenge we've faced, whether emerging health concerns, ongoing disparities, or the growing demand for essential services has reinforced the importance of working together to protect and promote the well-being of every resident in our county.

Public health is not the work of one person or one program. It is a collective effort built on partnerships, trust, and a shared commitment to ensuring that everyone has the opportunity to live a healthy life. This year, our team continued to expand access to critical programs, strengthen community-based initiatives, and innovate in ways that help us better understand and respond to the needs of the people we serve.

To our staff: your dedication, expertise, and compassion have been the driving force behind our progress. You have adapted to new challenges with professionalism and care, always keeping the community at the heart of your work. Your efforts often behind the scenes, make a significant and lasting difference.

To our community members and partners: thank you for your collaboration, your advocacy, and your trust in our mission. Public health succeeds when we work side by side, and we are grateful for your commitment to building a healthier, more welcoming future for all.

Dr. Phuong Luu
Health Officer

As we move forward, we remain focused on prevention, preparedness, meaningful community engagement, and the promotion of health for all. We are proud of what we have achieved together and look ahead with optimism, gratitude, and a deep sense of responsibility for the well-being of our county.

Refreshing Our Look to Better Serve You

SCPH launched a new logo and branding to help our community more easily recognize our services and trust the information we share.

We created the new design with input from our staff, ensuring it reflects our shared values and voices. Now, whether it's a flyer, a social media post, or a banner at an event, everything we produce has a consistent and professional look. This helps people easily recognize SCPH materials and trust that the information is reliable.

Community Partnerships

The Power of Community Partnerships

Strong community partnerships are at the heart of effective public health. By working closely with local organizations, schools, healthcare providers, and community members, Sutter County Public Health is able to better understand local needs, share resources, and deliver programs that truly make a difference. These partnerships help us reach more people, build trust, and create lasting improvements in the health and well-being of our community.

Bi-County Home-Visiting Collaborative

The Bi-County Home Visiting Collaborative coordinates and strengthens home visiting services across Sutter and Yuba counties. It enables agencies to share resources, align family needs, and expand access to services. This collaboration supports prenatal care, parenting education, child development, and overall family well-being.

CHIP Collaboratives

As part of the Community Health Improvement Plan (CHIP) community partners and stakeholders have developed collaboratives to collectively tackle our communities top health priorities. These collaboratives include: The Sutter Behavioral Health Learning Collaborative, Reducing STIs Learning Collaborative, and The Yuba Sutter Food Policy Council.

Sutter-Yuba Homeless Consortium

The Sutter Yuba Homeless Consortium works to connect individuals and families experiencing homelessness with vital programs and services that support long-term stability. By addressing barriers to housing, such as access to healthcare, employment, and case management, the consortium plays a key role in guiding our community members toward safe, sustainable housing solutions.

Coalition Against Tobacco-based Community Harm (CATCH)

The CATCH Coalition is a collaborative network of schools, community-based organizations, non-profits, and public sector partners dedicated to advancing health and prevention education. The coalition focuses on key initiatives such as tobacco prevention, retail licensing advocacy, smoke-free outdoor spaces, and youth engagement campaigns like Escape the Vape, all aimed at creating healthy and tobacco-free communities.

Oral Health Advisory Committee (OHAC)

The Oral Health Advisory Committee is a bi-county collaboration of dental providers, schools, and community-based organizations working together to improve oral health outcomes. The committee plays a key role in planning and supporting activities such as Kindergarten Oral Health Assessments, public education campaigns, and other initiatives that promote lifelong oral health across our communities.

Managed Care Plans

Managed care plans collaborate on community health assessments, share data, and provide resources for local health initiatives. They help ensure residents, particularly those on Medi-Cal, have access to primary care, behavioral health, and preventive services. This partnership enhances public health capacity and promotes more coordinated, effective care for the community.

Community Health Assessment (CHA) & Improvement Plan (CHIP)

What is the CHA and CHIP?

A Community Health Assessment (CHA) helps identify the health needs, strengths, and challenges of a community. This process gathers input from residents, community organizations, and other stakeholders, and collects health data to understand what health issues impact health and well-being in Sutter County. Information collected from the CHA is used to identify key community health priorities and lays the foundation for the Community Health Improvement Plan (CHIP).

Why Is the CHA/CHIP Important?

The CHA and CHIP process brings together community, partners, and stakeholders to collectively develop goals, create actionable strategies, and direct resources to improve the health of the communities they serve.

Quality Improvement (QI)

What is Quality Improvement?

The Sutter County Public Health Quality Improvement Council works to improve Public Health services continuously. By using proven improvement methods and making decisions based on data, we've become better at meeting community needs and improving health outcomes.

Why Is Quality Improvement Important?

The Public Health Quality Improvement (QI) Council serves as the backbone of Public Health's commitment to excellence. It provides leadership, coordination, and oversight for quality improvement efforts across all programs and services. The Council ensures that QI is not just a one-time project, but a sustained, organization-wide approach to improving public health outcomes. During this fiscal year, the QI Council completed three large-scale QI projects. Learn more about two of these projects highlighted below.

QI Success Stories

Branch wide QI Project

This year, our Public Health Branch successfully integrated Microsoft SharePoint, transforming how we collaborate, manage documents, and share information. Previously, staff relied on email and shared drives, which often led to version control issues and communication delays. With SharePoint, we now have a centralized, user-friendly platform that supports real-time document sharing, co-authoring, and improved transparency across teams.

Unit QI Project- Women, Infants and Children (WIC)

In April-May 2024, the WIC program's breastfeeding survey highlighted strong awareness of general breastfeeding support, education, and pump loans, but lower recognition of peer counseling and lactation consultant services. In response, WIC introduced Estimated Due Date Check-ins, expanded staff training, and enhanced ongoing education to provide more timely, skilled, and individualized breastfeeding support. These improvements aim to better meet families' needs and increase access to key breastfeeding resources.

Workforce Development (WFD)

Sutter County Public Health (SCPH) created its first Workforce Development Plan and Training Guide to support Public Health staff's growth and success. This plan was shaped by feedback from our team and is based on nationally recognized public health skills and standards.

The Workforce Development Plan is our roadmap for making sure staff have the training, tools, and support they need, both now and in the future. It helps us:

- Identify where we need to grow or improve
- Provide training to build knowledge and skills
- Support our team so they can serve the community effectively

CalAIM Justice Involved Program

What is the CalAIM Justice Involved (JI) Program ?

The CalAIM JI Program helps people in Sutter County Jail prepare for a healthy return to the community. Before their release, we work with them to manage any health issues, link incarcerated individuals to support services, and create a plan for care and support once they're back home. The goal is to make sure they have the help they need to stay healthy and connected to services that support their success.

Why Is this Program Important?

This program helps community members leaving incarceration stay on track with their health and avoid falling through the cracks. By connecting them to care and support before they're released, it gives them a better chance at a fresh start and reduces the risk of returning to jail or prison.

Since launching on 4/1/25 through 6/30/25, this program has helped 428 individuals preparing to return to the community from incarceration

★ 87 completed a full health risk assessment

★ 59 received personalized reentry plans to guide their next steps towards stability and wellness

After years of substance use and repeated incarcerations, one participant joined the CalAIM JI program, determined to change. In the 90 days before their release, they worked with our team to set goals around sobriety, healthcare, and housing.

Upon release, they entered a recovery center and began rehabilitation. Since then, they've maintained sobriety, secured stable employment with positive feedback from their employer, and continue to receive monthly support from their case manager as they build a healthier, more stable life.

This work is possible through strong partnerships with Sutter County Probation, the Sutter County Sheriff's Office, Sutter-Yuba Behavioral Health, Sutter County Public Health, WellPath (jail medical provider), Ampla Health, and the Sutter County Health and Human Services Employment and Eligibility Department. Together, we're helping people build healthier futures and stronger connections to care and support.

CalFresh Healthy Living Health Education

What is CalFresh Healthy Living?

The CalFresh Healthy Living program promotes healthier communities through nutrition education and physical activity. It engages residents with interactive workshops, cooking demonstrations, and community events that connect them to valuable wellness resources. By partnering with schools and local organizations, the program fosters lasting lifestyle changes and supports overall community well-being.

Why is CalFresh Important?

The CalFresh Healthy Living program promotes healthy lifestyles by providing people with the knowledge and tools to maintain good nutrition and physical activity. It supports young children, seniors, and families in making the most of their food resources by learning to shop for and prepare healthy meals on a budget. By encouraging healthy eating and active living, the program helps reduce the risk of chronic diseases and improves overall community health.

Success Stories

In 2025, all four of our CalFresh Healthy Living early childhood education partners received the Leaders in Eating and Activity Practices (LEAP) Awards for promoting healthy eating and active living. The honored sites include Live Oak–Apricot, Queens, Cooper, and Mahal Plaza. These awards recognize schools and early education programs that demonstrate outstanding commitment to fostering health and wellness in their communities.

Client Success Stories

Success Stories

The Tobacco Control Program partnered with the California Health Collaborative, Yuba-Sutter Blue Zones Project, and SayLove to host a community tobacco forum. The event brought together public health experts and community members to discuss the dangers of tobacco use, emerging trends, youth-targeted marketing, and effective strategies for prevention and education.

Escape the Vape

The Tobacco Control Program led several community awareness initiatives focused on the dangers of vaping. Tobacco Education Program (TEP)

Health Education

What is the Tobacco Education Program?

Sutter County Public Health's Tobacco Education Program (TEP) offers classes to help youth and students quit using tobacco. The program also educates schools and parents about the dangers of tobacco use. TEP works with local businesses that sell tobacco to ensure they understand tobacco laws, prevent sales to underage youth, and remain in compliance with state laws.

Why is the Tobacco Education Program Important?

Using tobacco carries serious health risks, including lung cancer and heart disease. Educating youth about these dangers is crucial to prevent smoking, vaping, and other tobacco use. It is equally important to educate businesses that sell tobacco, so they understand the laws, stay in compliance, and avoid selling to underage youth.

Success Stories

In 2025, the Tobacco Education Program began its retailer education efforts, visiting 14 tobacco-selling businesses in Sutter County to inform them about current tobacco laws and provide compliance tools, such as digital age verification calendars. Business owners and employees expressed appreciation, with one noting he had never received this type of outreach in his 25 years of running the store.

Children 18 and under who have Medi-Cal, are uninsured, or underinsured can receive all California-recommended vaccines at no cost. Adults who are uninsured or have limited access to healthcare can receive certain vaccines for a minimal fee, helping to prevent the spread of disease and keep the entire community healthy.

Why are Immunizations Important?

Since vaccines became common, we've seen a huge drop in vaccine-preventable diseases. Illnesses that used to be very common like measles, mumps, and polio are now rarely seen and usually only pop up in small, localized outbreaks. It's a big reminder of how effective widespread vaccination has been in keeping communities healthier.

Animal Bites

Nursing

What is Animal Bites Surveillance?

The Animal Bites Surveillance program monitors bite reports from Sutter Animal Services (SAS) and coordinates testing of animals suspected of rabies. It advises bite victims on rabies risk, ensures timely medical care, and helps prevent the spread of disease in the community.

What is Rabies?

Rabies is a deadly virus that attacks the brain and nervous system and is almost always fatal once symptoms begin. It is spread mainly through the bite or saliva of infected animals such as bats, skunks, raccoons, and unvaccinated pets. Rabies can be prevented with prompt medical care after an exposure, making it important to report animal bites and avoid contact with wild or unfamiliar animals. Vaccinating pets, staying away from wildlife, and seeking medical advice after any bite are key steps to staying safe.

Animal Bite Prevention: 10 Essential Tips

- Avoid touching or approaching unfamiliar, stray, or wild animals.
- Watch for warning signs like growling, hissing, stiff posture, or raised fur.
- Don't disturb animals while they're eating, sleeping, or caring for young.
- Keep pets socialized, trained, and up to date on vaccinations.
- Avoid actions that can trigger aggression, such as running from a dog or making hard eye contact.
- Use protective gear if you work with animals and handle them properly.
- Secure your environment by closing gates, managing trash, and not feeding wildlife.
- Teach children safe behavior around animals, including gentle handling and asking permission to pet.
- Stay away from animals that appear sick, confused, or unusually aggressive.
- Know first-aid steps for bites: wash the wound and seek medical care if the skin is broken.

In FY 2024-2025, of the 12 specimens collected, Sutter County had ZERO positive rabies test results!

Communicable Diseases Nursing

What are Communicable Diseases?

Communicable diseases are illnesses caused by germs like viruses, bacteria, or parasites that can spread from person to person, through the air, by touch, contaminated food or water, or even through animals and insects. These diseases can range from mild to life-threatening, but many can be prevented with vaccines, good hygiene, and clean water.

Examples of Communicable Diseases We Investigate:

- Tuberculosis (TB)
- Sexually Transmitted Infections (STIs)
- Foodborne Illnesses

Why is learning about Communicable Diseases Important?

Early detection and timely intervention can prevent many diseases from spreading widely. Educating people about how diseases are transmitted and how to protect themselves helps reduce infections and keeps communities healthier. By raising awareness and promoting simple preventive measures, we can stop outbreaks before they become serious.

Program Outcomes for FY 2024-2025

TUBERCULOSIS

Tuberculosis is a serious infectious disease caused by bacteria that mainly affect the lungs but can impact other parts of the body. It spreads through tiny droplets in the air when a person with active TB coughs, sneezes, or talks.

Latent TB accounts for approximately 80% of all TB cases in the US

Active vs Latent TB

Active TB

Active TB is when a person has an infection, usually feels sick, and may be able to spread TB bacteria to others.

Using protection and getting treatment when needed helps keep you and others healthy. Childhood Lead Nursing

What is the Childhood Lead Prevention Program?

Sutter County Public Health (SCPH) provides education about products and foods that may contain lead and explains how elevated levels can affect a child's development. SCPH reviews reports from healthcare providers and, when needed, partners with Environmental Health, and works with families to identify potential sources of exposure.

Why is the Childhood Lead Prevention Program Important?

The normal amount of lead in the human body is zero, and any exposure can harm health, especially in children, where it can affect brain development, behavior, and growth. Environmental Health partners with our Sutter County Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention Program by conducting environmental investigations when a child's blood lead level is elevated, working with public health nurses to identify the source, recommending remediation, and preventing further exposure while ongoing outreach helps families understand these risks and avoid sources of lead.
